Assessment Group for Diversity Issues
Chair: VP for Diversity, Mary Ontiveros
Committee: Shannon Archibeque-Engle, Paul Doherty, Gene Gloeckner, Chris Henle, Laura Jensen, Dave McKelfresh, Debra Parker, Jennifer Schneider, Paul Thayer, Ria Vigil
• This year’s survey was designed to assess the current campus climate of the university

• Results are intended to – Provide an overall picture of CSU’s employment experiences and perceptions
  – Further CSU’s commitment to institutional accountability
  – Inform policies, initiatives, and opportunities that will provide an exceptional and equitable work environment
  – Provide a small benchmark for longitudinal data collection and comparison for perceptions of diversity
• Climate Survey designed by the Assessment Group for Diversity Issues

• Administered via Campus Labs in Fall 2016
  – Spanish and hard copy versions available
  – 15 minutes to complete
  – Anonymous
  – Results are reported in aggregate and no identifying information reported (e.g. small cell sizes)
  – Email initiation sent by President Frank
  – Two week follow-up reminder sent by councils to their employee listserv

- AP: Time Demands & Expectations, Accountability Standards, and CSU Perceptions all significantly differed
- SC: No significant differences
- Faculty: CSU Perceptions significantly differed
- Student Affairs: CSU Perceptions (NU: 3.8; U: 3.4) and Time Demands & Expectations (NU: 2.6, U: 2.9) significantly differed
Key Findings

- The 2014 assessment results revealed minimal between-group differences by employee category, while the 2016 assessment finds consistent and significant employee category differences.

- Faculty respondents have less favorable perceptions than AP respondents on all constructs.

- AP respondents have significantly more favorable responses than SC respondents on all constructs except Work Overload and CSU Perceptions.

- SC respondents had significantly more favorable responses than faculty on the constructs of CSU Perceptions, Work Overload, and Time Demands & Expectations.

- Gender was another personal characteristic with notable differences in experiences and perceptions. Respondents who identify as self-identify, transgender, and/or nonbinary reported more negative experiences with regard to disrespectful behavior and negative treatments compared to males and females.
Key Findings

• Executive Leadership and Accountability Standards emerged as having the least favorable perceptions among employees and most favorable perceptions was overall CSU perceptions and Work Respect
  – Workload showed a wide variance among employees

• The areas of focus that were most predictive of an employee’s unit perceptions and work respect were their physical environment and perceptions of accountability standards
  – Executive leadership was the area most influential on employees’ overall perceptions of CSU.

• Employees in Student Affairs had significantly more favorable responses in all areas of focus except CSU Perceptions; however, their experiences were not more favorable when examining negative/disrespectful experiences
